First off, This is just weird. I really wish steam had a middle of the road option when making reviews. I both recommend and dont recommend this game. Let me start with saying the sonny flash games are one of my all time favs and insanly nostalgic for me. When i heard about a remake of the first existing and being on steam i imediatly bought it. and now that i had honestly. its bearly worth the price of u00a34 Its amazing to see the game getting a whole new coat of paint, the graphics look really nice, the sound track improved. But then you get to the flaws. It seems incredibly unfair and honestly a kick in the gut when a full pc remake has less features than the free flash version. No full voice acting just the "occasional say one word or 2 words in a dialoge" when you equip new items you dont see sonny equip them. When you learn a new abbility you cant easily move it around on the skill wheel like you could in the flash games ( drag and drop) no interactive backgrounds ( in the flash games you could click on thing in the background and get extra little lore snippits) It feelsl ike the devs forgot what it was that made sonny so special and incredible when it was a flash game which was that it felt like a fully fledged game that was also fun to play. It feels like they forgot part of this along the road when making this. now i know ive mainly complained about the game so far. BUT if you have never played sonny before honestly i would say just play the flash games. as you most likelyt wouldnt like this and the flahs games are so much better.
